Morrisville Borough—Bird Town!

In August, Morrisville Borough (Bucks) will officially be designated as a Bird Town, but its already accomplished a great deal; under the leadership of a very enthusiastic teacher and an energetic Master Gardener, the MV Aviators (after-school green club at Morrisville Intermediate) have presented at an Environmental Symposium in Maryland, been present for Peregrine banding in Harrisburg, and have created a courtyard garden that thrives with life. Stay tuned for much more info in future issues!

Audubon Inspiring Action

A number of years ago, Audubon Pennsylvania partnered with the Friends of the Wissahickon (FOW.org) to create a training program and Audubon Advisors who as a team, would visit property owners in the Wissahickon Valley and offer advice on creating an ecological, bird-friendly yard. Recently, we received the following email from a homeowner who jumped in full force...and is now enjoying the rewards (anonymity protected by request):

Just under five years ago, an Audubon at Home team of advisors (Sachiyo Searles, Robert Panebianco, Sally Benton and Joan Leiby) audited my Mount Airy property and sent me a report. I took to heart your auditors' report and have worked vigilantly since then to realize its recommendations. Besides small steps I had previously taken, I've since:

- removed about 40% of my property's turfgrass,
- installed a native plant garden, a woodlands area, and a rain garden.
- planted four native trees, dozens of native shrubs, and established numerous

...colonies of native perennials and native grasses and sedges throughout the property.

- put in two bird feeders, a bird bath, and a screech owl nesting house

- removed numerous invasives.

- rid my stand of Eastern hemlocks of an adelgid infestation returning it to good health.

- continue to avoid using chemical pesticides and herbicides except under very rare circumstances.

I want to again thank Audubon for the "At Home" program which gave me a blueprint for reducing harm and stewarding my property more responsibly.

If you are in touch with the volunteers who audited my property, please let them know that they made a tremendous difference and I greatly appreciate what they did.
